

I spend 20% of my time on regulations , keep increasing them and I will quit. I took test last year that I had to take a month out of work to pass and it was a lousy thought out test that had nothing to do with running a branch. You people do not understand our business and regulations on top of regulations do not help. I have been in business over 40 years and there is a limit to how much regulation we can take when see no purpose except to create more government jobs.
